

Innovative furniture range proves a magnet for leading design Company

Client: ProCo

Location: Sheffield

Brief: As part of a major expansion programme, leading print and design company ProCo have refurbished a 50,000sq ft. factory and office complex. To complement their corporate vision they were looking for a radical and vibrant look for their office furniture and workspace, to incorporate substantial document storage (but without the traditional grey filing cabinets!)

Specification: After several meetings to explore the scope and vision of the project together with a full site survey we produced a range of space planning options to allow our client to visualise the best use of the space available. This resulted in the selection of an innovative new range of office furniture incorporating the latest in modern aesthetic and ergonomic design, with magnetically-attached work surfaces adding to the design features. ProCo needed lots of storage space and the chosen layout uses the units in such a way as to form low-level partitioning whilst the vibrant door colours add to the overall room effect.

Zefiro is a modern office furniture system from Alea with a different look and feel incorporating contemporary design features and dimensions. The introduction of flat screen technology minimises the surface area required for each operator and ensures the optimum use of space. Alea have embraced the changing world of business and understand the need for increasingly flexible spaces with furniture that is easy to reconfigure and move. The beams and structural legs connect with simple pins and a patented, innovative magnet system allows the work surface to be fitted to the frame with minimal effort and be easily changed or moved when required. The dividing screens and cupboard fronts have a brushed metallic finish in a colour combination of burnt orange and green.

What Our Client Said "We wanted our new premises to reflect what we do as a company. As an award winning print communications agency we are naturally 'design-led' and wanted our new furniture to make a statement about our Company. We loved the fact that the desks are so easy to reconfigure so we can change the layout over time to suit our needs in the future – and it was great to find storage solutions with such a strong visual impact." Graham Congreve, Sales Director.

For more information or brochures about our Alea Office Furniture range please email: info@domino-online.co.uk or register your details on our website: www.domino-online.co.uk

About us

At Domino, we are passionate about creating inspirational new environments and turning drab interiors into imaginative spaces where people can come alive. Whether working on the interiors of warehouses, schools and hospitals or on cutting-edge office, retail or leisure projects we will take the strain out of the fit-out process and provide a comprehensive project management system for you to ensure your needs are met on budget and on time, every time.

Our range of fit-out work includes:

- Partitioning
- Suspended Ceilings
- Mezzanine Floors
- Floor Coverings
- Racking and Shelving
- Mechanical and Electrical
- Kitchen and Bathroom Installation
- Joinery / Plastering / Decorating
- Space planning service
- Office and Café Furniture

Our Accreditations:

- Main contractor
- CHAS accredited
- Construction Skills Certification Scheme
- Member of the Association of Interior Specialists
- Constructionline Registered
- Investors in People

Office Furniture Solutions

There are many things to consider when choosing your office furniture, but the first consideration should be what can your office furniture do for you?

Investment in your company starts with investment in your people, and that includes their workspace: We will work closely with you to understand how your business works and what you need to achieve from your working environment. We will develop space planning options for you to see different ways in which the people and storage can fit together and will prepare a visual presentation with a fully detailed proposal.

Then we will offer you CHOICE. Together with our chosen furniture partners from around the world we can propose a wide range of desking, seating and storage solutions to suit comfort, style, working practice, aesthetic finish, and budget. From café seating to reception furniture and from Call Centre furniture to full Boardroom layout, we offer an unparalleled range of traditional and contemporary systems to provide the right style for your business.

Domino Commercial Interiors Ltd,
29 Orgreave Drive
Handsworth
Sheffield S13 9RN

t. 0114 254 1900

f. 0114 254 1901

e: sales@domino-interiors.co.uk

w: www.domino-interiors.co.uk